

“Catherine”: BI-COLOR TOURMALINE (PINK & YELLOW)

This month’s Catherine Colorway Club design is inspired by all the images I’ve seen of bi-color tourmalines. I designed this one in a lovely soft yellow and bright pink colorway.

Ancient Egyptian lore suggest that, as tourmalines emerged from the center of the earth, they passed through a rainbow capturing all the colors in the universe. Indeed, tourmalines are found in an astonishing array of colors, values, saturation, and combination thereof.

While bi-color tourmalines often have zones of color – bands or stripes – I chose to intermingle the colors in this design. I like the way they play well together. Enjoy!
